

C-SPAN Names New Political Editor

– Deputy Political Editor Nate Hurst Promoted –

July 26, 2021 -- C-SPAN today announces the promotion of Nate Hurst to Political Editor. He will oversee C-SPAN's campaign coverage including races for the White House, Congress, state and local elections of national importance.

Hurst has served as C-SPAN's deputy political editor since 2019. He joined the network in 2014 and has held several vital roles regularly producing Congressional hearings, international legislatures, and the U.N. He's also produced original C-SPAN content including season two of C-SPAN's "Landmark Cases" and "January 6: Views from the House."

Prior to C-SPAN, Hurst reported on federal transportation policy for CQ Roll Call. He is also the former Washington correspondent for The Detroit News where he covered the Obama White House and Congress. Hurst is a graduate of Emerson College and a 2010-11 Paul Miller Fellow of the National Press Foundation.

About C-SPAN:

C-SPAN, the public affairs network providing Americans with unfiltered access to congressional proceedings, was created in 1979 as a public service by the cable television industry and is now funded through fees paid by cable and satellite companies that provide C-SPAN programming. C-SPAN connects with millions of Americans through its three commercial-free TV networks, C-SPAN Radio, the C-SPAN Radio App, C-SPAN.org and various social media platforms. C-SPAN's robust public affairs programming includes national and international public policy conversations; its popular morning show Washington Journal; book and author discussions on Book TV; a chronicle of America's past on American History TV; and more. The network's video-rich website contains over 265,000 hours of searchable and shareable content, archived since 1987 for educational and reporting purposes.
